

Besides my dad, if any one person influenced my life as a Christian ... it was Jackie Fox.

Jackie was always teaching. It might be from the pulpit, or a classroom, at VBS or individually. For a long time I had trouble reconciling dinosaurs and the Bible. Finally, I took my confusion to a patient, understanding man. Jackie listened to questions, then took a storybook from the shelf. The book and Jackie made sense the Bible story, dinosaurs and the flood. He told me to keep the book. Years later, I told Libby I had the book and asked if she would like it back. She said, "Why don't you keep it?". I'll treasure it and memories of him always.

Jackie was preaching a series of lessons on the Beatitude. A different Beatitude each Sunday night. Growing restless with this procedure I questioned Jackie, "How come the good Lord could sum this up in 13 verses and you're taking 13 weeks?" "Well," he replied with his sly grin, "I'm just not as good as the Lord."

There are two words to describe Jackie Fox, he was a people Person. He never saw a person he didn't like. He was known in the community because he made it a point to meet everyone.

Jackie was always happy, ^{and} easy going, a true gentleman. He always had time for everyone. We all loved him young ^{and} old.

Jackie loved the Lord, and it was evident in his sermons. They were presented with love and concern. This made him a very effective preacher. He lived the lessons he taught.

Our family and others always enjoyed being with him in our homes, or at Church functions.

Jackie was very active with our youth. He influenced many of our High School Seniors in attending Freed Hardeman University. Our two daughters and son were three of them.

Jackie and Gibby were true ^{believers} ~~believers~~ in Christian Education. They were active supporters of Tri-County Bible School. Jackie often spoke in chapel and the students enjoyed his lessons. (over)

He had a special gift of being able to relate to all ages.

Jacobi will always be loved and missed by all those who knew him.
